FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT ("FMLA") POLICY

Federal law provides employees with jptotected leave under certain circumstances. University policy as well as applicable collective bargaining agreements may provide even greater benefits. Please consult whuman Resources or your applicable collective bargaining agreement to determine what other benefits you may be entitled to under University policy.

Events That May Entitle an Employee to FML Aeave

Eligible employees of Yeshiva University (the Unisity) are entitled to take up to 12 work weeks of jobprotected unpaid Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) leave during any rolling 12month period for one or more of the following reasons:

- 1. The employe's own serious health condition;
- 2. To care for a child, spouse colparent who has a ous health condition;

member of the U.S. Armed Forces with a serious injury or illn/essovered service member" means a member of the Armed Forces, including a member of the National soon as possible and practicable. Except in cases of extreme medical emergencies, employees are expected to advise their supervisor as soon as they know the need for and expected duration of the leave, and generally within two business days of the time they know of the need foreave. Notice may be given by telephonemail, fax, or other similar methods In all cases, whether leave is taken intermittently or continuously, the employee, where practicable, must make a reasonable effschedule his/her leave so as not to interrupt University operations unduly.

The University requires that the serious medical condition be recertified every 30 days except for leaveelated topregnancyor childbirthor where the minimum duration of the serious health condition at issue is more than 30.days employees requesting intermittent or reduced leave for periods in excess of six months, the University requires recertification every six months. In addition, employees are required to report periodically on their status and intent to return to work. If theunistances of an employee's leave change, and the employee is able to return to work earlier than originally indicated, the employee shouldtify the University at least two days prior to the date that he or she intertidereturn to work.

An employee retrning from FMLA leave taken for his/her own serious health condition must provide certification from a health care provider that he/she is medically able to resume work. An employeeailing to complete the returto-